DEATH OF MR. WHEATLEY,-Mr. enedic: Wheatley, one of the oldest and most generally esteemed of our ens, and who had conducted the indertaker's business here for nearly half a century, died about 10 o'clock esterday morning at his home, 805 King street. Mr. Wheatley on Satur-day evening appeared greatly fatigued, on gradually grew worse and continued so until his death. He had been sufferer from heart trouble for a numper of years. Mr. Wheatley was born a this city in 1828, and spent his entire ife here. Early in life he learned the rade of a cabinet-maker, and served is apprenticeship with the late Chas. Koons in the building in which he died. A few years before the civil war e started the undertaker's business here. During the war he embalmed over 1,500 bodies of soldiers. He was one of the first members of the Virginia State poard of embalmers, and ation d on that board until his leath. He was seventy-two years of age, and leaves a widow and four dren, three daughters and one son, all of whom are grown. The deceased was a member of Andrew Jackson odge of Masons, Potomac Lodge of Odd Fellows and Oriental Lodge, K. of P., all of which organizations will attend the funeral tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. He was a member of the Baptist Church for nearly forty years.

YESTERDAY -Early yesterday mornng a deligntful breeze from the South emporarily diminished the intensity of hot wave which has prevailed over his acction for the past five or six day, but in a short time to sun "fulled," the breeze sank to zephyrs and the mercury was again forging toward the century mark. The attendance at all the churches showed a fall ing off, and the worshippers plied fans and fought flies during the entire serviews, which were in most instances slightly abbreviated. In the afternoon the rays of the sun were very fierce and but few people were seen moving through he stree s, the majority who were not compelled to be out preferring darkened rooms or windows in the shade. About three o'clock in the afnoon a heavy rain cloud, charged with electricity, passed below this city, producing a tantal zing mirage to the many who were sighing for gales of Ara y, b) zz ards or anything else which would bring relief. A few drops only fell from the cloud, and they in the exme southern end of the city. The breezedied out entirely with the seting of the sun, and the night servic s in the churches were but slimly attend-ed. The temperature today has been milder, a northwesterly breeze having CORPORATION COURT.—Judge J. K.

M. Norton presiding.—The following grand jury was sworn: G. W. Ramsay, foremae; J. T. Sweeney, J. T. Johnson, G. H. Harlow, J. F. Pollard, Charles Glover, Harry Yohe, G. F. Steiner, A. Lyl saod R. H. Wattles.

Judge Norton in his charge to the jury said that it had been reported that a person who had been indicted for felony in this court and who had escaped ony in this court and who had escaped arrest had been seen on the streets and also had been seen talking with certain police officers. He wanted this matter probed and wented the jury to find out whose fault this was, and if any offi-WEATHER PROBABILITIES -For this secon fair tonight and Tuesday with mode to arrest the fugitive such officers should be indicted. One of the jurymen asked if the Mayor had instructed officers not to make the arrest should the Mayor be indicted. Judge Norton replied: "Certainly, and the Judge of the court, also, if he had given any such instruc-tions." Judge Norton said that the police force were State officers and that it was their duty, even on rumors, to make arrests and preserve the law of the State and city. The Mayor, all the police and a number of other witnesses appeared before the grand jury. The grand jury returned the follow-
